ASTRONAUT SAYS: 'BOY, WHAT A RIDE!'

First Laotian Peace Parley Brings Discord

Royalists, Reds Fail To Agree on Next Step in Negotiation

HIN HEUP, Laos (AP)—Military officers of the royal government and pro-Communist rebel regime talked for 64 minutes today at the first meeting aimed at implementing a cease-fire in Laos. They reached no conclusive agreements.

The negotiators met on the north bank of the Nam Lik River, which divides this tiny village 55 miles north of Vientiane, but failed even to agree on the site for future talks.

The rebel officers, representing the Pathet Lao guerrillas and the self-styled nationalists led by ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma, asked that permanent delegations meet at Ban Namone, seven miles south of rebel-held Vang Vieng. Government officers said the delegations should meet at Hin Heup.

Rebel negotiators replied the decision was out of their hands but that a reply could be expected by Sunday. The rebels also said they could not decide on a government request that future talks be open to newsmen.

Six senior rebel officers, led by a major, showed up at the meeting. The government had brushed aside Souvanna's proposal that political negotiations be held.

The Vientiane government instructed its delegation to arrange a political conference if details of the cease-fire were settled.

It remained to be seen if the Pathet Lao representatives would go along with this procedure. Souvanna Phouma, the self-styled nationalist supported by the rebels, had put emphasis on the quick formation of a coalition government in proposing the peace parley.

No major fighting has been reported since Wednesday, but Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, strongman of the Vientiane government, said Thursday there have been sporadic attacks that raised doubts about the Pathet Lao's good faith.

More than a half dozen wounded have been brought into Vientiane in the past two days.

The U.S. and British governments have declared they will not go to Geneva unless an armistice is in force. Western military experts in Vientiane concede, however, that there are bound to be flareups in the touchy weeks ahead as a result of ragged communications and probable refusal of some diarch rebel units to obey the cease-fire order.

Prince Souphanouvong, titular leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, today gave full support to the political negotiations proposed by Souvanna Phouma, who is his half brother.

Like Souvanna Phouma he called for formation of a coalition government and naming of a delegation to the Geneva conference, presently scheduled to start May 12.

President Kennedy's roving ambassador, Averell Harriman arrived today in New Delhi where a three-nation truce commission is waiting to go to Laos to verify that the fighting has ended and to supervise the truce.

Interstate 75 Work Claim Payments Ok'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board has approved payments of extra work claims involving some 30 miles of Interstate 75 between Dayton and Cincinnati.

Seven highway contractors will get $673,416 for extra work they did to complete the highway by the July 31, 1960, deadline set by former Highway Director Charles M. Noble.

C. F. Replogle Co. of Circleville will get the largest payment, $242,439 on two contracts.

U.S. Astronauts Big Day Starts Early - at 3:58 a.m.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., dressed in his silver space suit, started for the launch pad early today for a history-making rocket flight into space.

Shepard 37, a blue-eyed New Englander, stepped from his special quarters at 3:58 a.m. Eastern Standard Time and walked through a flood-lit lane formed by newsmen, base workers, and security officers.

Eleven paces from the door of hanger "S", Shepard, a Navy commander, climbed into a white and blue van, attended by his doctor and various technicians. The big vehicle promptly drove off toward the launching site about 3½ miles away.

This was Shepard's first public appearance since he and his backup pilot, Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 39, were put under wraps last weekend.

The first scheduled space flight by an American was postponed last Tuesday because of bad weather and Shepard never appeared at that time.

Though the event was no less epochal than last Tuesday, there was less tension and expectancy today among the small band gathered outside hanger "S". This was because everybody knew the identity of the space trail-blazing astronaut.

The first U.S. space explorer was bound for his 115-mile-high trip into near space 23 days after Soviet Air Force Maj. Yuri Gagarin orbited the earth in a 5-ton space craft.

On this momentous day in his life—and in history—Shepard was awakened at 1:05 a.m. In his double deck bunk on the second floor of hanger "S", backup pilot Glenn was roused at the same time. They had retired at 10:30 p.m. without sedation after watching television for a while.

First came a shower and a shave. Then Shepard donned long white underwear with big spongy patches sewn at the seat, along the thighs and elsewhere to allow circulation of air next to the body.

For about three days before the flight, the pilots had been living on a low-waste diet.

The menu for the final pre-shot breakfast: Filet mignon wrapped in bacon, two poached eggs, dry toast and orange juice.

After breakfast, the space man and his backup walked a few steps down a gallery to the medical room where the physical examination started at 2:25 a.m.

There, the astronauts' personal physician, Air Force Lt. Col. William K. Douglas, and his assistant, Maj. Carmal Jackson, checked the men's eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart and lungs. They checked reflexes and took a blood sample.

Navy Officer Sets Record, But Is Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Navy medical officer soared higher than man has ever gone in a balloon—113,500 feet up—and then met a tragic death in a 25-foot fall from a rescuing helicopter.

Lt. Cmdr. Victor G. Prather, 34, of Bethesda, Md., fell backward from the sling of the helicopter that had picked him up Thursday in the Gulf of Mexico after an almost perfect landing. He died aboard the ex-carrier Antietam 7 hours after he and Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, of Washington, soared to their record high.

Ross was lifted to the carrier by one of three hovering rescue helicopters without injury. He stood on the deck awaiting his companions rescue.

Hours earlier they were sharing the drama of the record flight, 21 miles above the gulf. Shortly before reaching maximum altitude, Ross, the pilot, had radioed the carrier that he could see the Atlantic Ocean on the other side of Florida.

Asked on another transmission how things were going, Prather, father of two children, replied: "Things are great. Come on up."

The huge plastic balloon had been launched from the carriers flight deck off the mouth of the Mississippi River at 7:08 a.m. (Central Standard Time). It reached its maximum altitude 2 hours and 36 minutes later at a point about 136 miles south of Mobile, Ala.

Young Bike Rider Injured in Fall

A young bicycle rider was slightly injured at 5:14 p. m. yesterday after her bike collided with a car in the Highland Ave. - Court St. area.

Treated at Berger Hospital for abrasions of the face and knees was Christine Van Gundy, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Margaret Van Gundy, N. Court St.

Police said the auto involved was driven by William Dixon. According to officers, the youngster was able to get back on her bicycle after the accident, but was injured when she fell from the bike a few minutes later.

Ex-Vicar Is Defrocked

LONDON (AP)—Dr. William Bryn Thomas, 62, former vicar of the Church of the Ascension, was unfrocked at a solemn ceremony in Southwark Cathedral Thursday after a consistory court convicted him of immorality.

READY FOR SHOT — This is how Alan B. Shepard appeared shortly before his history making flight into space today. The U. S. space hero is wearing his 20-pound pressure suit which he donned prior to entering his space cabin.

Ax May Not Fall After All On America's Master Spy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, Washington's grandfatherly master spy, may have a longer lease on his official life than many people here thought immediately after the Cuban invasion failure.

This possibility arises because inquiry at the highest levels of the government now strongly indicates President Kennedy has not yet decided what he wants to do with the embattled Central Intelligence Agency. Dulles 68, is head of the agency and his fate is closely linked with its future.

What does now appear to be highly probable if not absolutely certain, is a violent shakeup of the whole complex of foreign undercover activities carried on by many divisions of the federal government. CIA is the top, coordinating outfit but others exist in the military services and in other civilian agencies.

Kennedy now has appointed two boards to tell him what to do about the CIA and related operations. The first headed by retired Army Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was named April 22. It was assigned to survey on a grand scale U.S. intelligence, semimilitary and guerrilla warfare capabilities.

The second board is actually a reorganized agency originally created by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower about six years ago. Kennedy selected Dr. James R. Killian Jr. to direct this group, committee on all intelligence activities.

Inquiries among high administration officials in position to know the views of all the principal figures in this political drama produced the following information on these points today:

1. President Kennedy "at the moment" has no plan to make any change in Dulles' assignment. This does not mean any reassurance to Dulles about the future; it means that Kennedy is awaiting the results of the surveys he has ordered. The Taylor study is due to report in mid-June.

2. Dulles himself likes his job and has no intention of resigning or retiring, especially under fire.

3. Atty. Gen. Kennedy has no plans for going into intelligence work himself and has told friends that there is nothing to reports he may succeed Dulles.

Astronaut's Wife Says: 'Wonderful'

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Alan Shepard, who watched her husband on television as he took off into space today, emerged from the privacy of her curtained house triumphant and happy.

Although she had not spoken with her husband, she had been told by Col. John Powers at Cape Canaveral that everything went all right with his rocket ship trip to the fringe of space and back.

"It was just wonderful, wonderful, wonderful," she told the mob of cameramen, reporters and curious neighbors gathered around her porch.

She had been watching the rocket blast on television with a transistor radio in her lap.

With her were her parents, the R. P. Brewers of Kennett Square, Pa., a friend, Mrs. John Matthews, and her daughter, Jean Matthews.

A niece, Alice Williams, who celebrated her 10th birthday today, and the Shepard daughter, Julia, stayed home from school to see the history-making blast-off.

Mrs. Shepard told reporters she had talked to Alan at 9 o'clock Thursday night.

Alan said everything was in good shape, and he sounded fine, she said.

Jamestown Hot Rodder Fatally Hurt in Crash

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—A stripped-down "hot rod" crashed into a ditch near here today fatally injuring the driver, Ford Pickering, 24, of Route 2, Jamestown.

Pickering died in Fayette Memorial Hospital shortly after being admitted. He suffered a skull fracture and other injuries. A companion, Don Brandel, 18, also of Route 2, Jamestown, was injured but his condition is reported as fairly good.

Shepard Is OK After Space Trip

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Steel-nerved Alan B. Shepard Jr. rode a rocket into space today, exclaimed "what a beautiful view" as he looked down on the earth, and then dropped to a safe landing in the Atlantic.

To the wiry, 37-year-old Navy commander, the historic adventure obviously was no more frightening than many earlier flights he had made in hot experimental aircraft.

"It's a beautiful day," he told Marines on the helicopter that plucked his space capsule out of the water after a soaring flight 115 miles above the earth and 302 miles southeast from the Cape Canaveral launching pad.

His nonchalance gave way to excitement as he declared: "Boy, what a ride!"

Only 19 minutes after the Redstone rocket booster blasted off at 9:34 a.m., Shepard climbed out the escape hatch of the space craft and was picked up, to be transferred to the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain.

"I don't think there's much you'll have to do to me, Doc," America's first spaceman remarked to one of the physicians waiting to determine if Shepard suffered physical or psychological harm in his flight out of the atmosphere.

Shepard had radioed from the weightless void of space that he could see, through his periscope, the entire East Coast of the United States.

President Kennedy telephoned his congratulations to Shepard on the carrier and said he was looking forward to the space man's arrival in Washington, when he will receive a hero's welcome.

America's first spaceman was brought aboard the recovery ship, the Aircraft Carrier Lake Champlain, at 10 a.m.

The astronaut had rocketed briefly across the threshold of space and landed safely after a 5,100 mile-an-hour journey that carried him 115 miles high and 302 miles down range.

He shook hands with doctors and hundreds of sailors cheered. Then he walked to the admiral's quarters to get a physical examination and begin to tell the story of his flight. Only the doctors were permitted to speak to the astronaut.

Clad in his silvery space suit, Alan B. Shepard Jr. stepped from the helicopter at about 10:01, went briefly to the capsule and picked up his space helmet which he had left behind.

He said "Thank you" to Lt. George Cox of Eustis, Fla., the copilot, who also snagged the space chimp, Ham, from the ocean.

It was a real spit and polish welcome usually reserved for high-brass admirals.

The capsule touched down on a platform emblazoned with red, white and blue bunting.

As the watchers waited, Old Glory and the admiral's blue ensign flag with its two stars spanked briskly in the breeze.

The first words the astronaut said after coming aboard the pickup helicopter: "It's a beautiful day," one of the Marines who picked him up said. His next words, uttered shortly before reaching the recovery ship were: "Boy, what a ride."

The pickup occurred at 9:53 a.m. (EST), 19 minutes after the Redstone booster rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral at 9:34 a.m.

The flight reached an altitude of about 115 miles and lasted 15 minutes.

The 37-year-old Navy commander's good condition was evident throughout the flight when Shepard reported such things as: "What a beautiful sight!" in describing the earth below.

He radioed back that he could see the outline of the entire East Coast of the United States.

Throughout the rest of the journey, he said everything was OK.

The successful shot puts the United States back into the space race with Russia.

Soviet scientists copied the first big prize 23 days ago when they boosted the world's first space traveler, Yuri Gagarin into a 188-mile high orbit and returned him to earth 108 minutes later.

Today's suborbital shot does not match the Russian achievement but is a major step toward orbiting an American which the National Space Agency plans to do later this year.

The purpose of today's flight was to determine if man can perform useful chores in space.

Shepard proved conclusively it could be done.

He reported constantly throughout the flight that he was able to do certain tasks, such as pushing levers and buttons and operating manual controls.

All the way through he told the control center at Cape Canaveral by radio that everything was okay.

During the flight, Mercury officials said that Shepard was reporting facts and figures just like a test pilot would.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration made this official announcement: "Test No. 108 is terminated. This was the pioneer U.S. man in space flight. The Mercury spacecraft is on the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the helicopter is about to land. Shepard is about to come out of helicopter."

Shepard's reports on the "beautiful view" came only three minutes following launch, after a periscope in the capsule protruded to give the space pilot a view of the earth.

Shepard had entered his space cabin at 5:18 a.m. (EST), after a final medical examination and a breakfast of filet mignon, scrambled eggs, sherbet and peaches.

He remained there 4 hours, 18 minutes, during a countdown that had been delayed several times by technical troubles and weather.

The Redstone throbbed to life after a countdown directed by former German rocketeer Dr. Kurt Debus.

Debus was assisted by Dr. Werner Von Braun, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration space flight laboratory.

The slender rocket, stretching 83 feet tall with the capsule and 15½-foot escape tower on top, flew a true course as it knifed into

Kennedy Hails U.S. Space Trip

Scientific Knowledge Available to World

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy saluted the successful flight today of America's first astronaut and at the same time urged redoubled efforts to push America's vital space program.

The chief executive talked by telephone and radio with Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., who soared into space and safely back to a landing at sea.

Kennedy voiced his personal congratulations, received assurances from Shepard that "everything worked just about perfectly," and said he was looking forward to seeing the Navy commander here in Washington.

The White House said the meeting probably will be at the executive mansion Monday morning.

Kennedy issued a statement praising the accomplishment and promising to share with the world the scientific material obtained from the flight.

Here is the radiotelephone conversation between the President and the astronaut:

The President: "Hello commander."

Shepard: "Yes, sir."

Kennedy: "I want to congratulate you very much."

Shepard: "Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Kennedy: "We watched you on TV, of course, and we are awfully pleased and proud of what you did."

Shepard: "Well, thank you sir. As you know by now, everything worked out just about perfectly. And it was a very rewarding experience for me and for the people who made it possible."

Kennedy: "We are looking forward to seeing you up here, commander."

Shepard: "Thank you very much. I am looking forward to it, I assure you."

Kennedy: "The members of the National Security Council are meeting on another matter this morning, and they all want me to give you their congratulations."

Shepard: "Thank you very much, sir, and I am looking forward to meeting you in the near future."

Kennedy: "Thank you commander, and good luck."

Spring Wins Safety Award

DuPont Man Speaks At Statewide Meet

Stanley E. Spring, metal arts instructor at Circleville High School, was honored this week during the 31st annual Ohio Safety Congress meeting in Columbus.

Spring, who served as chairman of the industrial arts and vocational education section of the recent All-Ohio Safety Congress and Exhibit, was presented a plaque "In sincere appreciation for his interest and endeavor for safety."

Spring, 36, came here from Pennsylvania nine years ago. He and his wife and their three children live at 517 S. Court St.

He holds a bachelor's degree in education from Kent State University and also has done graduate work.

CHARLES Brackett, safety engineer at Circleville's DuPont plant was featured speaker at the meeting. He pointed out that his firm constantly worked to achieve maximum safety standards and accident prevention.

Citing the fact that there were 13,000 on-the-job deaths in U. S. industry in 1960, he stated that, "Company concern for worker's safety must be on a par with concern for production efficiency, quality and costs."

A discussion of methods of accident prevention concluded the meeting.

Band Booster Meeting Set At Ashville

The Ashville - Harrison band boosters will hold their annual music awards program at 7:30 p. m. May 15 in the Ashville School auditorium.

The evening will open with a social hour and ice cream party and a short concert by the concert band. At 8:15 p. m. awards will be presented to approximately 100 students from Ashville, South Bloomfield and Duval schools who participated in this year's instrumental music program.

The band under the direction of William Pangburn, recently received a "superior" rating in state band competition finals for class C-1 bands in Springfield.

After the awards program, officers will be elected for the 1961-62 school year and preliminary plans made for the organization's fall program.

Jury Returns Guilty Verdict

Marjorie Stevens, 464 Watt St., was found guilty of making a false statement in application of a duplicate title yesterday by a Pickaway County Common Pleas Jury.

Mrs. Stevens was placed on probation for two years. Judge William Ammer passed sentence at 10 a. m. today.

The hearing began yesterday at about 9:30 a. m. with the seating of the jury.

Mrs. Stevens defended herself in the court action on a grand jury indictment charging her with giving a false statement when applying for a duplicate automobile title.

THE jury returned a verdict at 3:30 p. m. after about an hour's deliberation.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert Huffer represented the state in the trial.

Astronaut

a clear sky under the anxious eyes of thousands who crammed into missileland to watch as America for the first time committed a man into space.

Millions of Shepard's countrymen watched on live television.

As the missile accelerated, forced six times the pull of gravity pushed the astronaut against his couch.

At 141 seconds after launch, the capsule separated and the escape tower — designed to jerk the capsule free and parachute it safely to earth in case of trouble—was jettisoned.

Automatic controls then flipped the nine-foot tall capsule over 180 degrees so the blunt heat shield bled the way, with the pilot riding backward.

About four minutes after launch, Shepard tumbled, as if over a precipice, into a weird and weightless world—an exhilarating experience that lasted about five minutes.

Officials did not say whether Shepard had reported on his reactions during the weightless period.

But during the time he would have been weightless, the reports were that he was performing his tasks.

As swiftly as it came the weightless feeling left and Shepard once again was gripped by G forces—twice the tenacity as on acceleration—as the capsule plunged back toward earth.

The pilot reported he was subjected to 11G's during the re-entry period.

Two minutes after launch, at 40,000 feet, a small parachute opened to stabilize the space craft. At 10,000 feet, a 33-foot main chute unfurled to lower the capsule into the water, presumably with no more force than if it had fallen off a 14-foot wall.

Recovery ships in the area reported they sighted the large red and white parachute as it lowered the capsule toward the sea.

Two helicopters from the Lake Champlain rushed immediately to the scene. One lowered a hook to raise the capsule upright. It was on its side in the water.

When this was done, Shepard climbed out an escape hatch and was pulled into the other helicopter.

A few minutes later he was on the deck of the carrier.

Officials on board reported that he walked from the helicopter under his own power and immediately went to a medical facility below deck.

Here, doctors began a quick examination of the pilot. After this initial check, Shepard will be taken by helicopter to a hospital on Grand Bahama Island, about 75 miles southwest of the recovery site.

He is expected to remain there at least 24 hours for extensive examination and psychological tests.

Then he will be flown to Washington, probably Sunday or Monday, for a hero's welcome at the White House from President Kennedy.

He will remain in Washington about 36 hours and then will return to Cape Canaveral for further tests. These will include simulated flights in a mock capsule, so that medical men can compare the results of similar mock flights which he made before today's real thing.

A report from the carrier said Shepard "crawled out of his capsule at sea and was hoisted into a helicopter heading back to the Lake Champlain."

The capsule later was picked up by a Marine helicopter piloted by Lt. Wayne Koons of Lyons, Kan., with Lt. George Cox of Eustis, Fla., as copilot.

New Homes Slated at Local Area

Building permits on file at the Service Department office today disclosed plans for the erection of 11 new homes in the vacant area between Court and Pickaway Sts. along the north bank of Hargus Creek.

According to the local Planning and Zoning Commission files, the permits were granted to W. A. Thomas, Route 3. Information available here indicated 11 new homes are slated to go up in the area.

The land was recently purchased by Thomas from D. J. and James Carpenter of Circleville. According to reports Thomas plans to start building immediately.

The same area came under discussion here several years ago when attempts were made to obtain the land for construction of a supermarket there. The move was eventually rejected and the land remained vacant.

It was noted on the new building permits that the planned new homes will be of masonry construction. The individual lot measurements are 40 by 150 feet.

GOP Seeks Vote To Override DiSalle Veto

Governor Opposes Bill To Transfer Highway Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican legislative leaders are trying to muster enough votes to override Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's veto of a bill to give local governments more highway funds from auto license tag revenue.

The governor's veto message Thursday stated that the bill would take needed revenue from the Ohio Highway Department. And, he added, if highway money matched by the federal government is taken into account, the bill would "deprive the citizens of this state of $32 million in badly needed highway activity."

In lieu of the bill, DiSalle proposed:

1. A legislative commission to appraise needs for highways funds at all government levels during the next year, and to recommend to the next legislature the means for meeting those needs.

2. A stopgap device to meet needs in the next two years by giving local governments about $19 million from fines, fees from drivers' licenses, dealers' licenses, certificates of title, transfers of ownership and registration, duplicate plate and certificates, and special license plate reservations, and including a $10 million one-shot advance on auto registration fee money.

The governor commented that his proposal "would offer a reasonable compromise" to the vetoed bill.

DiSalle also apologized for admitted errors in his special message on campaign spending. The message, which enraged several legislators, Republicans and Democrats alike, said that seven lawmakers failed to file personal campaign spending reports.

This was not true, the governor said, but faulty reporting to his office, plus some of his own errors, caused the mixup.

DiSalle was expected to sign quickly an emergency appropriations bill providing $7½ million for the state's share of poor relief for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30. This will guarantee counties next Wednesday, on schedule.

Before the legislature adjourned its 18th week Thursday, the Senate passed a House-approved bill allowing party committees to designate candidates to posts vacated by resignation. The resignation must come at least 100 days, but not less than 40 days, before an election. The bill is designed to stop the many written campaigns of recent years.

City General PTA Installs Officers

The Circleville General Parent-Teacher Assn. held an election of officers and installation meeting recently at the high school.

Out-going president Joe Bell conducted the installation of new officers.

The new president of the PTA is Mrs. Mary Guenther, 451 E. Main St.

Other officers are William Barthelmas, first vice president; Marshall Winner, second vice president; Mrs. George Cline, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Wood, corresponding secretary; and Ross Spalding, treasurer.

Johnson Says U.S. Geared To Fight Ignorance Abroad

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson pledged the Kennedy administration today to a drive against ignorance, poverty and disease as determined as "our uncompromising stand against Communist aggression itself."

Those ills of man are the allies without which communism cannot succeed with its armed aggression and political subversion, he said.

Heifetz Is Disappointed In His Stint at University

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Late this month, famed violinist Jascha Heifetz will end a two-year educational experiment which he terms "both a success and a failure."

Heifetz is resigning as regents' professor of music at UCLA. Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy expressed the university's regret and added: "He has contributed significantly to the musical and cultural life on the campus."

The violinist is more qualified in his remarks. Always a circumspect man, he chose his words carefully "because I don't want to offend the university."

But he said: "I think I may have had success as a teacher, but I failed as a hooper—a man with hope."

"I had hoped that I could change things. When I took the assignment, friends warned me that it would be difficult dealing with a government organization—UCLA is a state university. But I still had hope. Now I realize I was wrong. I couldn't change things."

What did he want to change? "I was hoping there would be less talk and more practice," he said.

Girl Asks Which Way Heads Pointed, Wins Grand Prize

APPLE CREEK, Ohio (AP)—An enterprising 8th grade Apple Creek girl carried off the grand championship ribbon in the Wayne County science fair with this experiment:

She sent questionnaires to 154 families in the area asking which way their heads pointed when they were sleeping.

North: 29 girls, 37 boys, 16 men, 15 women (total 97).
South: 25 girls, 31 boys, 22 men, 22 women (total 100).
East: 34 girls, 33 boys, 16 men, 17 women (total 100).
West: 30 girls, 31 boys 19 men, 20 women (total 100).

The student, Charlotte Meier, drew no conclusions, but it is apparent from the results that people sleep in all different directions—in Apple Creek, at least.

Hocking Farmer Gagged By Pair of Robbers

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Authorities Thursday night recovered in Lancaster a car stolen from George C. Brown after the Hocking County farmer was dragged into his barn, gagged and bound. But no trace has been found of the two men who then got $100 in ransacking Brown's farm home five miles southwest of nearby Rockbridge early Thursday morning.

A neighbor, Frank Reeves, freed Brown about four hours after he was tied up.

in a speech prepared for the Lasker Awards medical journalism luncheon.

"The transparent purpose of the Communist strategists is to so engage our energies and our resources that we neglect the very works which won us world respect," he said.

"Again, I speak with the approval of the President of the United States when I say America will not neglect—but will pursue with greater vigor and responsibility—the drive against ignorance, poverty and disease throughout the world."

Johnson said that by armed aggression in Southeast Asia and political subversion in Latin America "the Communist conspiracy is moving to prevent mankind from finally attaining goals now so clearly within reach."

Another Kennedy administration spokesman had said earlier that the proposed long-term foreign program will be used to narrow the gap between rich and poor in underdeveloped nations.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the carrying out of such reforms will mean sacrifice on the part of recipient nations and they may be reluctant to take the necessary "radical and difficult steps" unless the United States can assure them of long-term assistance.

In a speech to the United States Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night Rusk called for steady and quiet support from the nation for President Kennedy's projected foreign aid operation. It now depends on congressional action on Kennedy's request to make funds for foreign aid loans available over a five-year period.

Foreign aid programs of the past have, for the most part, been dependent on annual appropriation by Congress. This limited the extent of commitments which the United States could make to other countries.

Rusk argued that in helping countries which are trying to build their economies from the ground up the annual appropriations system no longer is adequate.

In arguing for support from the business community for assistance to the underdeveloped nations, Rusk said the need would be impelling even in the absence of the Soviet-Red Chinese promotion of world revolution.

"But the bloc is there," he said, "and what would be impelling becomes a matter of life and death for freedom itself. The bloc has moved into economic and technical assistance with increasingly large resources and with considerable effect."

"They have found a device by which they hope to leap over or outflank the bastions of the free world and the means for pressing their campaign into every continent."

Temperatures are not expected to make any sharp turn upward, but are expected to be closer to normal, running into the 50s and high 60s during the daytime and dropping into the 40s at night.

Earlier today, Youngstown had 34, Toledo 35, Cleveland 39, Columbus 42, Cincinnati 50.

London Newspaper Becomes Daily

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The semi-weekly Madison Press at London in Madison County became a daily newspaper Thursday.

C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of Hartley Newspapers, which recently acquired the Madison Press from J. R. Conway, said the Press would publish Monday through Friday. William Rush will be the managing editor.

Hartley Newspapers also publishes seven suburban weeklies with a combined circulation of 72,000, as well as the Daily Times at Greenfield and the Plain City Advocate.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures expected to average near normal. Normal high in upper 60s, normal low 45-50. Only minor day-to-day changes indicated. Showers and scattered thunderstorms mainly tonight and Saturday and again about Tuesday will total about three-quarters inch.

Vast Variety Slated on TV

Drama, Sports Due During Coming Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Drama, sports events, a new series, a debate—these are some of the television events of the next week.

"The Joke and the Valley," an original prize-winning play is tonight's NBC Hall of Fame special (8:30-10 Eastern Daylight Time). The stars will be Dean Stockwell, Keenan Wynn and Thomas Mitchell.

Big event of Saturday is the Kentucky Derby—on CBS at 5:15 p.m.

On NBC's "The Nation's Future" Saturday night (9:30-10:30) Teamster President James R. Hoffa and U. S. Chamber of Commerce president A. H. Motley will take sides on the question: "Are labor unions too powerful?"

On Sunday there is the first performance of an operatic monologue, "The Accused," starring Patricia Neway on CBS (11:30 a. m.-12). President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia will be the guest on NBC's "Meet the Press" (6-6:30 p.m.)

"Whispering Smith" a new whodunit series will make its debut Monday evening on CBS (9-9:30), with Audie Murphy in the title role. On Tuesday, NBC will have a Civil War special, "The Renegade," about the Battle of Bull Run" (10-11).

Wednesday's CBS "Circle Theatre" is a drama about a hit-and-run driver (10-11).

Registration Set for Water Safety Course

A Water Safety program will be conducted again this year in Circleville under sponsorship of the Pickaway County Chapter Red Cross.

Registration for the classes — which will begin June 19 — will be tomorrow and next Saturday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the Red Cross office, 114½ N. Court St.

Miss Joanna Goldschmidt will serve as director of the classes which will meet once every two weeks until August 12.

The minimum age for children's enrollments is seven. Special classes will be given for adults wishing to take the course.

RED Cross officials are all registration requests should be mailed to the chapter office. No telephone signups will be accepted. Don Collins, water safety committee chairman, said.

Persons registering should give their name, address, telephone number, age and class desired.

Fort Loramie Man's Body Found in Pit

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP)—The body of Anthony Geise, 68, of nearby Fort Loramie was found in the water of a gravel pit south of that community Thursday. The Shelby County coroner gave a tentative ruling of accidental drowning. Sheriff Robert Gearhart said Geise, a retired farmer, may have slipped while walking along the edge of the pit.

County 8th Grade Students Rank High in State Test

Eight Pickaway County eighth grade students have placed in the upper one per cent throughout the State in the 1961 Eighth Grade Test.

Wheat Agreements Needed

If the current pace continues throughout the crop year, the United States will have exported 635 million bushels of wheat by June 30. This will be a peace year record, made possible by crop failures in many parts of the world.

This country now has 40 per cent of the export wheat market of the world. Wheat exports come to $1.2 billion, about half of which comes back in usable dollar form.

But last year's crop was more than enough to meet all domestic and export demand. The nation's record wheat surplus of 1.3 billion bushels will rise above 1.4 billion by July 1, it is estimated. There is no departure from 55 million allotted acres for wheat, an acreage which is producing more than can be disposed of.

In the mill are proposals to tie future crop supports to mandatory acreage reductions and encourage further contraction by paying growers in kind, out of government stores, for crops they don't raise.

An alternative is a dual price system by which the grower would be paid high prices for domestic food wheat and the remainder would be sloughed off in export and feed channels for anything it might bring.

The administration is yet to put forward its program. With surpluses mounting despite record exports, it should knock heads together to get an agreement, and then begin.

Grave Threat Faces Upper Class

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The upper classes haven't faced such a threat since the French revolution.

It isn't the end of the world, but it may mean the end of a way of life for the favored few.

It brings the threat of doom to America's greatest postwar aristocracy.

I refer to the Kennedy administration's proposals to cut down on push "expense account living."

If Congress adopts this program, many expenditures now allowable as tax deductions no longer will be.

Salesmen no longer will be permitted tax-free to wine and dine and entertain prospective clients—and themselves—at posh parties, night clubs, theaters, high-priced restaurants and company-owned hunting and fishing lodges.

Executives won't be able to throw $15,000 wedding receptions for their daughters at the country club and write them off as a necessary business expense. In fact they no longer will be permitted even to cuff their country club dues.

The proposed program also would limit "business gifts" to $10 a person a year, daily "business entertainment" allowances to between $4 and $7 a person, and "business travel" expenses to $30 a day.

Nothing has stirred the industrial world so much since the invention of the typewriter.

There'll be some startling changes if the program really becomes law.

For example: Businessmen will go back to closing deals in their offices instead of on the golf course.

Cirrhosis of the liver will decline. Nobody will be able to entertain himself into cirrhosis under the new expense account schedule.

Wives who have made a practice of serving all the family meals at the country club—with the government picking up most of the tab—will have to stay home and learn how to cook.

Coney Island may replace Atlantic City and Miami Beach as a convention center. Coney Island is about the only resort left in the country where a businessman can have a high old time on $30 a day.

Can't you imagine a grandchild of the future asking:

"Tell me again about how life was in the old days, Grandpa, when everybody lived on an expense account except the government."

Try and Stop Me

ELIZABETH MONTGOMERY, lovely daughter of Robert Montgomery, is achieving TV fame in her own right. She also collects unicorns as a hobby—or at least that's what she told an incredulous interviewer. "But unicorns are imaginary beasts. They don't exist," protested the interviewer. "Exactly," agreed Miss Montgomery. "That's why it's so cheap to collect them."

In Korea, an ace correspondent, pressed into emergency service at a field hospital, observed a young nun calmly assist in the amputation of a soldier's cruelly mangled leg. The correspondent, ash-faced and trembling himself, told the nun, "I wouldn't do that for a million dollars." The nun nodded and said, "Neither would I."

"Did you follow my advice about kissing your girl when she least expects it?" asked a senior of a young fraternity pledge. "When?" echoed the pledge, applying a piece of raw beefsteak to a very black eye, "I thought you said where!"

Is your sickbed making you sicker? It can! And all because your skin resembles a magic carpet!

Like any rug, your skin wears thin when the same bony points continuously concentrate your weight. Eventually, this pressure eats through skin, other tissue and even bone. These bed sores heal slowly because their blood supply is cut off, too.

Like a cheap carpet, malnourished skin lacks the firm fibers needed to withstand normal wear and tear. Bedclothes full of folds and wrinkles cut through healthy skin like sharp-edged razor blades, and drenched skin can easily be ground to shreds like any wet rug.

At first the skin reddens. Then, as the red shades into dusky blue, the area hardens. Now nothing can stop the bed sores. Finally the skin cracks open.

As germs feed on this dead tissue, infection begins to ooze from the raw area.

Antibiotic germ-killers can help clear the infection, while special ointments and injections dissolve away dead tissue and starve the germs. The surgeon may prefer to cut away this debris.

Most important, you have to shift the weight to some other spot. You can buy all sorts of pressure-reducing mattresses, alternating pressure pads, small inner tubes and rubber doughnuts — to hold the sore off the bed.

A few fluffed-up pillows and strips of foam rubber (cloth-covered) make ideal pressure-relievers. So do rolled-up blankets under knees and ankles.

All this can prevent bed sores, too. Be your own air mattress; change positions frequently.

Dry, clean, wrinkle-free bedding — without assorted crumbs — is essential. Cool sponging on hot summer days helps prevent sweat-soaked sheets.

Nourishing foods and alcohol rubs can toughen that thin skin, while baby powder prevents unnecessary friction.

You can prevent bed sores—but even a magic carpet won't last unless you give it proper care!

Holding Back the Tide

By George Sokolsky

It is unbelievable but it is true that there is such an organ as "The American Party World Union of Free Enterprise National Socialists." Its headquarters is in Arlington, Virginia and its Commander is Lincoln Rockwell. This party has a program which seems to be a hodge-podge of conflicting ideas; nevertheless, this paragraph makes it clear that Rockwell adores Hitler, which is surprising in an American.

"We believe that Adolf Hitler was the gift of an inscrutable Providence to a world on the brink of Jewish-Bolshevik catastrophe, and that only the blazing spirit of this heroic man can give us the strength and inspiration to rise, like the early Christians, from the depths of persecution and hatred, to bring the world a new birth of radiant idealism, realistic peace, international order, and social justice for all men."

The seven articles of the program are described as "fundamental, absolute, and timeless Truth."

Most of the concepts in Commander Lincoln Rockwell's program originated in Houston Stewart Chamberlain's "The Foundations of the Nineteenth Century," although I do not know whether Rockwell has seen this amazing attempt to establish a theory of Nordic supremacy.

The significance of Nazism in the United States is that it is one of a large number of mass movements on the extreme Right, none of which is, of itself important, but all of which added together represent a groundswell of opposition to Liberalism. This opposition cannot be ignored. While some of these movements seem to be without sanity, those who join them are often very sincere Americans who are dissatisfied with current conditions and who find themselves frustrated in any attempt to hold back the tides of Socialism.

Yet Rockwell is a Socialist, a National Socialist, and he expresses his Socialism in these words:

"We believe that no man is entitled to the services and products of the labor of his fellow men, unless he contributes at least an equal amount of goods or services of his own production or invention."

We believe that the contribution by a member of society of nothing else but the tokens called "money" is a fraud upon his fellows and does not excuse a man capable of honest work of his responsibility to produce his share."

This is definitely anti-capitalist. It is as strong in its opposition to capitalism as anything written by Karl Marx. In a word, interest, dividends, rents are excluded. All that may be measured for reward is production of goods or services. And presumably, as there is to be no private capital, everything will be government owned. In fact, the first sentence of the program reads:

"We believe that an honest man can never be happy in a naked scramble for material gain and comfort, without any goal which he believes is greater than himself, and for which he is willing to sacrifice his own egoism..."

The American Nazis are, of course, violently anti-Semitic. The development of Marxism is attributed to Jews, although both Stalin and Khrushchev have, at times, been anti-Semitic. Rockwell sets forth his purpose as follows:

"We announce our purpose to be nothing less than a worldwide effort to free humanity from Jewish domination and subversion in all their forms, and the creation of the idealistic, racially realistic, socially progressive, international world order which we must have, if we are to remain master of our own planet."

"To this world-wide goal, we solemnly pledge our lives."

Jews are to be killed; all debts from non-Jews to Jews are to be cancelled and an International Jew Control Authority (like Eichmann's) is to be established: "... to protect the rare honest Jews from the wrath of the people newly awakened to the truth about the Jews, and to make a long-term, scientific study to determine if the Jewish virus is a matter of environment and can be eliminated by education and training, or if some other method must be developed to render Jews harmless to society."

The negroes are to be treated more mercifully. A new state is to be established in Africa to which negroes are to be sent. In fact, Rockwell's concept is, to a degree, similar to that of Elijah Muhammad. The Nation of Islam does not plan to establish this new state in Africa; their plan is that the United States give up some of its territory.

Dover Gamblers Accept Penalties

NEW PHILADELPHI, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge John H. Lamneck said two Dover gamblers convicted of bribing Mayor Clifford C. Froelich of that city will go to jail for 60 days and pay $1,000 toward the costs of investigating and prosecuting their case.

Judge Lamneck put the two—Fred Bergquist and Joseph Adelstein—on probation for five years Tuesday, subject to their acceptance of the terms he specified, including the jail sentence and payment of costs.

Judge Lamneck said the two readily agreed to the terms and said they would abstain from all commercial gambling in the future.

Clara Lathouse led the group in the opening prayer, "Love Lifted Me" was sung by the group.

Several readings on the topic "Mother" were given. "Nobody Knows but Mother" by Miss Gladys Noggle, "The Sweetest of All" by Mrs. Mary Mast and a poem, "Would You, Mom" was given by Mrs. Catherine Martin. Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips read a poem called "Mother" and closed the Devotions with a prayer.

The business meeting was opened by the President, Miss Gladys Noggle. The minutes of the April meeting were read and approved and roll call and payment of dues was dispensed with. Birthday offerings were taken and members having birthdays during the month of May were acknowledged.

Further business of the evening was discussed and the announcement made that at the June meeting names of the Secret Pals will be revealed. Persons unable to attend are asked to convey the names of their secret pals to either Miss Clara Lathouse and her committee or to Miss Gladys Noggle in a sealed envelope.

The class will purchase a gift for the youngest mother in attendance on Mother's Day. The bulletins in honor of deceased members of the class and altar vases in memory of Mrs. Clara Zwicker will be sponsored by the class June 25.

The class repeated its memory verse and sang the theme song in unison. Prayer was voiced by the president, Miss Gladys Noggle, to close the business meeting.

A contest on States of the United States beginning with the letters M and N was conducted by Marjorie Ankrom and won by Blanche Kerns. Alma Alderman won the door prize.

Refreshments were served by Evelyn Blue, Marie Brooks and Helen Wilkins. Edna Richardson and Betty Sawyer were unable to attend.

Anne Adkins Addresses Dads

Miss Anne Adkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adkins Jr., 315 Northridge Road, senior at Western College for Women, Oxford, addressed the Dads during the annual College Dads Weekend, April 28 to 30, at the Panel Discussion of the Administration and Government Officers in Leonard Theatre.

Her topic was "Honors Work". She also spoke in the capacity of the retiring President of the Government Association.

"Soviet Problems in Africa" is the topic of her research paper for her senior year. Students who are candidates chosen in the spring, work on a topic the preceding year. They may choose only one subject for this project and work with an adviser.

In the Department of English there are three honors students, and in the Department of History there are two honor students this year. Miss Adkins named the titles of the papers by other honors students. She explained that the program is not limited to English and history, but is working all departments.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

In Other Words, Forget

DEAR ABBY: One of my best friends just left after spending an afternoon over coffee. She told me several "stories" about me which she said she had heard from friends, relatives and neighbors. One was that I was getting a divorce. Another was that my husband was running around with a girl who works with him. Also that I am a woman with a terrible past, and I don't know what else. How does a person go about proving to people that stories like these are no true? I am sick inside.

SICK INSIDE

DEAR SICK: Your "best friend" is a queen-sized troublemaker. People who peddle "stories" like these to their friends are not above making up the stories. If you are wise, you will forget everything she told you. STOP seeing her, LOOK for a better "best friend," and LISTEN to none of these tales about yourself or others.

DEAR ABBY: When my wife goes to the supermarket she puts on a pair of faded old blue jeans, but she wears plenty of eye make-up, green eye shadow, the black liner, and the works! She looks like she's been to an all-night party and hasn't had time to wash her face. I think it looks terrible, but she says it's the style. Is it really?

RIP VAN WINKLE

DEAR RIP: A hausfrau should not get herself painted up like a super-duper movie queen to go to the supermarket. But if you want to raise a protest about her appearance, start from the bottom up. Old faded blue jeans are far more offensive than green eye shadow.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary in a small office and I am reasonable certain that my employer is running around on his wife. His wife is a good woman who sits unknowingly at home. Should I go to her with this information? Just what is the right thing to do?

SAD SECRETARY

DEAR SAD: Share this "infor-

Culinary Charmers

CEREAL FLAKE HERMITS

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup butter, margarine, or fat
2 cups light brown sugar
2 eggs
½ cup sour milk or buttermilk
3 cups corn flakes or whole wheat flakes crushed to make 1 cup fine crumbs

1 cup raisins
2-3 cup chopped dates
¾ cup chopped pecans.

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves. Cream butter, margarine or fat and sugar well. Add eggs; cream until light and fluffy. Add flour mixture alternately with sour milk or buttermilk. Stir in cereal flakes, raisins, dates, and nuts; blend well. Drop rounded tablespoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F) until lightly browned, 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Butternut squash is available all year round so take advantage of this good vegetable. Pare the squash, halve it and remove seeds and stringy portion in the bulbous end. Dice and cook in a small amount of salted water just until tender. Season with butter and a suspicion of nutmeg or mace.

First E.U.B.

"Up to Mount Moriah" has been chosen by the Rev. O. F. Gibbs for his sermon subject to be delivered Sunday morning in First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The service begins at 9:30 a. m. The Fidelis Chorus, directed by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, will sing, "Sound the Battle Cry" (Boalt).

Mrs. Verneal Thomas, organist, will play the following numbers: prelude, "Te Deum" (Otis); offertory, "Neath a Sheltering Tree" (Clarke); and postlude, "Recessional" (Johnston). Hymns to be sung by the congregation include, "This is My Father's World," "Open My Eyes, That I may See," and "Have Thine Own Way, Lord."

Rural Life Sunday will be observed. Edwin Richardson will assist the pastor in the worship service. Sunday school in the children's department will convene in the Service Center at 9:25 a. m. with Mrs. Robert Dumm and Mrs. Donald Johnson in charge. Church school in the youth and adult departments will meet following the worship service. Nursery care is provided during the worship service and Sunday school. The Youth Fellowship will meet in the Service Center at 6:30 p. m.

Church of Nazarene

Dr. H. S. Galloway, district superintendent of the Central Ohio District of the Church of the Nazarene, will bring the message in the 10:30 a. m. worship service. Rev. Galloway has been superintendent since 1943. He is also president of the General Board of the Church of the Nazarene which has its international headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri, president of the Seminary board of trustees, secretary for the board of trustees of Olivet Nazarene College, and a member of the Board of Foreign Missions. The adult choir will sing, "This is the Crowning Day".

The Sunday school hour will begin at 9:30 a. m. Superintendent Dawson Park will conduct the adult opening exercises. Mrs. Daryl Thompson will supervise the children's assemblies. The Sunday school offering will be used for the building fund.

The Junior Society and the Young People's Society will meet at 6:45 p. m. The leaders will be Mrs. Kenneth Dagon and Mr. Dawson Park. The young people begin a series of studies entitled, "Holiness in Heart and Life". The title of this week's topic is "What Happened at Pentecost?"

The pastor will bring the message in the 7:30 p. m. evangelistic service. The Junior Choir will provide the special music.

Presbyterian

This Sunday the guest speaker at the 10:30 a. m. hour of worship at the Presbyterian Church will be the Rev. Lee O. Scott of Granville, Ohio.

Hymns sung by the congregation will be "Come Thou Almighty King", "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing" and "Holy Spirit Truth Divine".

The choir will sing "I Will Lift Mine Eyes" by Edwards - Trehearne with Mrs. Ronald Knecht singing the soprano solo part. Mrs. Clark Will is the Director of the Choir.

The organist, Mrs. Theodore L. Huston, will play "Prelude" by Walton for the prelude, Shelley's "Canterbury" for the offertory and Bach's "Maestoso" for the postlude.

There are classes for all ages in the Sunday School starting at 9:30 a. m. Mr. Edward Grigg is General Superintendent with Mrs. Richard Heckert and Mr. Philip Hines as assistants. One nursery is open during Sunday School and both open during the church hour.

Senior - Hi Westminster Fellowship will meet in the church at 7:00 p. m. Sunday.

Junior - Hi Westminster Fellowship will also meet in the church at 7:00 o'clock. Their program is called "He That Hath Eyes and Ears."

Trinity Lutheran

Holy Communion will be celebrated at both the 8:30 a. m. and 10:45 a. m. services in Trinity Lutheran Church this Sunday. Pastor Carl G. Zehner will present the sermon, "Higher Than The Earth" based on Isaiah 55:8-9.

The Youth Choir will present special music at the early service. Music will be led at the late service by the Adult Choir. Both choirs are under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Oesterling.

Mrs. Karl Herrmann will preside at the organ at both services. Sunday School for all ages will be held at 9:30 a. m. The Nursery will be open during the late service. Services will be held at Christ Church, Lick Run at 2:00 p. m. DIAL A DEVOTION - Call GR 4-2123 for a one minute devotion.

First Methodist

The First Methodist Church worship services will be held Sunday morning at 8:30 a. m. and 10:45 a. m. Sunday School classes will meet at 9:30 a. m. Nursery care will be provided for pre-school children during the worship periods every Sunday.

This morning "The Bishops' Appeal for Africa" will be presented. There will be a brief recorded story of the African situation by Bishop Newell Booth. The morning sermon theme is taken from a phrase in Vachel Lindsay's poem, "The Congo", "I Had a Vision".

The congregational hymns will be "From Greenland's icy Mountains", "Watchman tell us of the night", and "The morning light is breaking".

The Youth Choir will sing the anthem for the early service. The Senior Choir will sing for the late service.

The Senior High Youth Fellowship will meet Sunday evening at 5:30 p. m. and the Junior High at 7:00 p. m.

Japanese Christians Cool About California Evangelist

TOKYO (AP)—A Southern California evangelist is bringing a Christian crusade here Saturday amid smouldering opposition from many Japanese Christians.

Heading the crusade is Dr. Bob Pierce, president of World Vision of Pasadena, Calif. A colleague calls the May 6-June 4 nightly affair a "soft sell," a new approach to reaching the Japanese.

Not all Japanese agree and a few Japanese pastors have been vocal in their opposition. One newspaper ran a cartoon showing a cleric pouring tea on a typical Japanese. The caption said: "The crusade is going to make instant Christians." Instant products are a current craze here.

One American missionary said most of the opposition centers on the issue of nationalism, the Japanese Christian leaders feeling they must do their own evangelism.

Pierce's staff contends such argument is invalid. Roy Nicholson, director of World Vision said, "We're simply making a platform to deliver a Christian message through music and a message by Dr. Pierce. It's a very soft sell, and yet the pitch is there."

Nicholson said there would be plenty of music from a chorus of 1,000 and a 75-piece orchestra, all Japanese.

World Vision promised, Nicholson said, that no baptisms or other rituals would be made on the site—the 10,000-seat Metropolitan gymnasium—because officials did not want rituals performed there and the organization did not feel it was the place for such sites anyway.

The Rev. Teruji Hirayama, pastor of the Yamate Church here and one of the vocal opponents, objected to the use of the gym and contended the cost of the crusade, $277,000, was tantamount to doing "missionary work by banquet."

Nicholson said the money came mostly from small, individual donations in the United States. He added Japanese Christians are putting up $40,000 and two Japanese Christian church councils invited World Vision to stage the crusade.

STORM of LIFE

"If only I could get out from under, get away from it all, find some island of peace..."

Like everybody else, we want to escape our problems and pressures. We are seeking calm away from the storm of life.

But we can't escape from life. We can't run away from the storm but we can find calm in the storm. When a hurricane sweeps across the countryside, its circling winds lashing out in destruction, there is always in the center, an area of quiet. In the eye of the storm there is calm.

Faith is not an escape, a running away into religion. It is finding the presence and adequacy of God to face life triumphantly. It is finding an inner center of peace while the winds blow outside.

The Church points the way to peace. It helps us to find the inner experience of faith.

"I have found my island... an island of peace in my heart. I have found calm... the calm of God in the storm of life..."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Out of the Heart

THE IMPORTANCE OF KEEPING THE CENTER OF OUR LIFE IN CONSTANT HARMONY WITH THE WILL OF GOD

Scripture—1 Kings 3:3-9; Proverbs 3:1-8; 4:20-23; Luke 6:43-45.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

A PERSON'S greatest treasure is his heart, or basic character, for that determines all his actions: this is the theme of this week's lesson.

It is first illustrated by Solomon in his prayer to God when he succeeds David to the throne of Israel in 963 B.C. Going to a "great high place" of worship called Gibeon, some five miles northwest of Jerusalem, Solomon offers up no fewer than a thousand sacrifices on the altar there.

That night the Lord appears to Solomon in a dream, saying, "Ask what I shall give thee." (1 Kings 3:5).

Solomon's reply is one of great humility and honesty. He confesses that he is "but a little child," saying he "know(s) not law of God—love—which comes from the heart. "Forget not my law," he says, "but let thine heart keep (watch over) my commandments." (Proverbs 3:1).

Furthermore, he tells his children, if they will "in all ways acknowledge" the Lord, "He shall direct thy paths." (Proverbs 3:6). Here the word "acknowledge" means "to gain knowledge of." (H. P. Liddon in "Peloubet's Select Notes").

In this week's golden text, Solomon suggests that the actions we perform in our everyday lives, the decisions we make, the words we speak—all these are not isolated things, but proceed from a single core—the heart, or our basic character.

GOLDEN TEXT

"Keep thy heart with all diligence: for out of it are the issues of life."—Proverbs 4:23.

How to go out or come in. He asks nothing for himself but wisdom to govern God's great and chosen people. "Give therefore Thy servant an understanding heart to judge Thy people, that I may discern between good and bad," he pleads. (1 Kings 3:9).

The wisdom which God granted Solomon was put to good use. "He (Solomon) was wiser than all men," we are told, "and his fame was in all nations round about. And he spake three thousand proverbs." (1 Kings 4:31-32), a compilation of which makes up the book of Proverbs.

There he records how he teaches his own children that while his specific laws must be remembered and obeyed, the most important law, from which all man's laws derive, is the

In the passage from Luke, Christ rebukes the Jews for their failure to keep this core from corruption. They try to guide others while violating some of God's basic laws. He implies. In the parable of the good and the corrupt tree He exhorts them to purify their hearts, for "the good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good . . . for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh." (Luke 6:45).

How does one obtain a "good treasure" in his heart? "In the (same) way that we get valuable things . . . in the bank," suggests W. M. Smith ("Peloubet's Select Notes"); "we put them there. Weeds grow naturally, but not roses. The cultivation of the heart is a continuous process in life."

2 Elders Bring Message Here

Jack Scott, Indianapolis, Ind., and Elroy Davis, Provo, Utah, are two elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints who are working as missionaries in this area.

The two elders said they consider it a privilege to bring their message to the Circleville area.

The church here holds services each Sunday at 11:30 a. m. Sunday School starts at 10:30 a. m. and Sacrament Service at 6:30 p. m.

REV. RICHARD BRUNK

Rev. Brunk To Speak at Mission Here

Rev. Richard T. Brunk, present pastor of 6th Ave. Methodist Church of Lancaster, will be the speaker for the Circleville Community Mission's (Lowery Lane) monthly missionary meeting.

The Rev. Brunk has resigned the pastorate of the 6th Ave. Church to go soon to Honduras with his family to do missionary work there.

He will tell how God has led him to this field. He is going out under the World Gospel Mission board, whose headquarters is in Marion, Ind.

The meeting here is open to the public and will start at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

REV. BRUNK has pictures of Honduras that he will show during the meeting.

Rev. Bill Campbell, whose radio program is heard on an area radio station on Fridays, is pastor of the mission.

Ike Starts His Tests for Driver Permit

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — State Police here received a distinguished visitor.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower showed up unexpectedly Wednesday at the State Police barracks—a few miles from his farm home—to take an eye test required to secure a learner's permit to drive an automobile in Pennsylvania.

Eisenhower first tried to read the eye chart without his glasses, but was unable to do so. He passed easily with them on. Capt. Daniel F. Brennan said Eisenhower "did very well." He said he has 20-40 vision with his glasses on.

Under Pennsylvania law, Eisenhower now must take a physical examination from his personal physician before obtaining the learner's permit. If he passes this, he then will be allowed to take the road test for his permanent license.

Eisenhower never before has had a civilian driver's license. He was accompanied here by his aide, Col. Robert Schulz.

Volunteer Group Being Organized

Wayne Fetherolf, presiding minister of the Circleville congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, is organizing a group of local volunteers to help staff the various departments that will arrange for housing, meals and refreshments for the family groups that will attend the circuit convention of the Witnesses in Springfield May 12-14.

Site of the three-day sessions is the Clark County Fairgrounds and about 1800 delegates are expected from 17 counties in central Ohio.

Coal Mining Leads Ohio's Danger List

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coal mining is the most dangerous industry in Ohio, and the communications industry the safest, according to the Division of Safety and Hygiene of the Ohio Industrial Commission.

The division made the statements this week at the All Ohio Safety Congress here.

According to the division, Ohio's safety record in industry is improving faster than that of the nation as a whole, but its accident frequency rate is slightly higher than average.

The latest figures show Ohio's over-all accident frequency rate is 6.86 disabling accidents per million man-hours worked compared with a National Safety Council frequency of 6.47.

The division said the frequency rate in Ohio coal mining is 22.5. In communications it is .71.

Castro Hikes Anti-Church Move in Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Fidel Castro government has stepped up its activities against the Roman Catholic Church.

In the port city of Baracoa, police searched a church and arrested its priest after they found a pistol and United States currency hidden in the altar, Havana radio reported Thursday.

The broadcast said a large amount of United States currency also was seized during a search of a Catholic school in Baracoa.

It also said counterrevolutionary propaganda was discovered in the school, causing the arrest of a staff member.

In Santiago, the government nationalized more than 20 private and parochial schools, according to Havana radio.

The priests and nuns who had operated the Catholic schools which were taken over by the government were reported to be ready to leave the country.

During his May Day speech Monday, Castro announced that severe restrictions would be placed against the Church in Cuba. He said foreign clergymen would be expelled and private schools, including Villanueva University would be nationalized.

The same materials found on Earth may also be found on the Moon, according to scientists. Then why is everybody so all-fired het-up on getting there?

A safety specialist with the Ohio State University Agricultural Extension Service told delegates the tractor causes more deaths and injuries on the farm than any other piece of farm equipment, but the loss of life and limb on the farm is decreasing.

W. E. Stuckey said tractor accidents killed 42 persons and disabled more than 1,500 last year.

Over-all fatalities involving farm people totaled 69 last year, he said compared with 100 in 1956.

The congress, sponsored by the Industrial Commission, winds up today.

Cancer-Plagued Actor Kept under Sedatives

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A spokesman for Gary Cooper, critically ill from cancer, denies reports that the actor is in a coma.

"Mr. Cooper is under heavy sedation for pain, and he sleeps a great deal," the spokesman said Wednesday. "But he remains lucid and talks calmly with his family and doctor while awake."

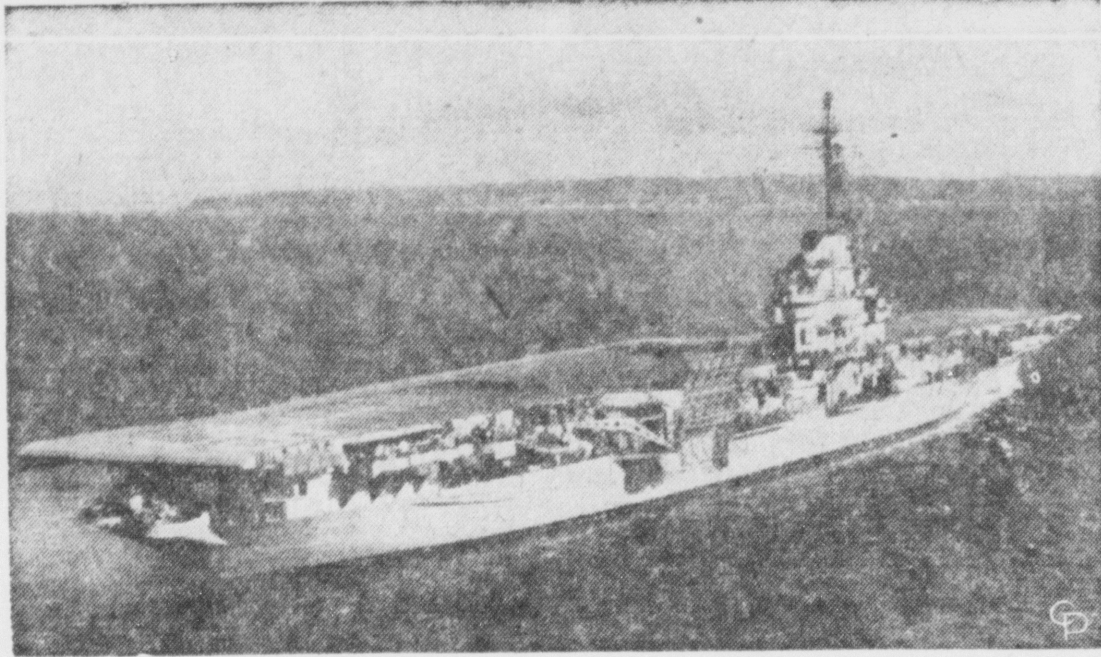

Cooper, 59, is at his Bel-Air home.

Latin Ministers May Discuss Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) —Consultations with Latin-American nations are reported to have raised hopes among American officials for a meeting of the hemisphere's foreign ministers to plan what to do about Cuba. It may come in June.

President Kennedy announced April 24 that the consultations would be held but he did not say at that time precisely what procedure would be suggested.

The June date for an emergency meeting would be just before a session of the hemisphere's finance ministers, also suggested by Kennedy to consider "new moves to speed economic progress. The economic talks tentatively are scheduled for early July, possibly in Montevideo, Uruguay.

Jets Continue
To Hit Ball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
From the looks of International league batting records, maybe they should call them the Columbus Jet Bombers instead of merely the Jets.

After the Jets bombed the hapless Syracuse Chiefs 14-1 with a 17-hit attack Thursday night, the club record showed these figures for 12 games: 67 runs—an average well over 5 per game, 106 hits, 15 doubles, 8 triples and 13 homers. That adds up to power any way you look at it, and for Columbus it adds up to a 5-3 record and a two-game lead over Toronto and Richmond in the standings.

Rochester pushed Richmond down to third, trailing the Toronto on percentages, when Herb Moford pitched three-hit ball and Ron Samford hit two homers for a 5-1 victory.

Cold weather caused postponement of the San Juan - Buffalo game.

Coupled with the Columbus power was the wild but effective two-hit pitching of Earl Francis, a big right-hander from Slab Fork, W. Va., who won his second straight decision.

The Jets erupted for seven runs in the sixth, three on Bud Pritchard's rally. Larry Elliot belted two home runs and catcher Don Leppert, batting .500 for the season hit two singles and drove in three runs.

Benhase and Lint also attended the clinic at Purdue University several weeks ago.

Musial Benching
Isn't Permanent

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Except for two fruitless pinchhitting appearances, veteran Stan Musial has been riding the St. Louis Cardinals' bench since April 26.

Is his benching indefinite? Like last year when he sat and fidgeted for a month starting May 27, leading many to believe the great hitter's career had come to an inglorious end?

Not at all, says Redbird Manager Solly Hemus.

"He'll be playing again in the near future."

Last year, Hemus explained, he started Musial, 40, a few games at a time and then gave him a rest.

"Stan was in and out and it didn't work," Hemus said. "In spring training I decided to try a different system, play him two or three weeks at a time and then rest him for a week or so, not just play him here and there."

The Cleveland Indians won 27 games by one run last year but lost 20 by the same margin.

Deers Capture
Fourth Place
In 6-Way Meet

Williamsport's track squad put on a strong finish to place fourth in a six-way meet Wednesday won by host school Unioto with 60 points.

Centralia was second with 50 counters, Clarksburg third (41), Williamsport (40), Kingston (19) and Huntingdon (4).

O'Conner soared 5' 4" for second place in the high jump and took the runnerup spot in the broad jump with a leap of 17' 6".

Howard Reeser topped mile honors with a run of 4:59, and ran to second place in the half-mile in 2:13.7. His brother, Sam, ran fourth in the mile in 5:20.

NOBLE sprinted to second place in the 220-yard dash after taking a third position in the 100-yard run. He also placed fifth in the broad jump.

Hammond won second place in the 440 dash in 58 seconds and Gerhardt placed fourth in the same event. Gerhardt also ran the 880 dash in 2:24, good for fifth.

Willis was fifth in pole vault placements on a hoist of 9' 6" and Harper tossed the shotput 37' 5" for fifth notch in that competition.

The Deers' relay squads gave their team a strong boost when they took first place in the 880-yard relay in 1:44.7 and captured runnerup awards in the mile relay with a 4:01 showing.

Hooks and Wallace, two Deer stalwarts, were out of action during the meet.

Williamsport's next track and field competition will be Saturday in the county meet at the Fairgrounds. Junior high school events will be run in the morning, and high school events start 1 p. m.

Jaycees Have
Scioto Ducats

Starting today the Circleville Jaycees will have advance tickets to Scioto Downs.

John Fissell, project chairman, will be assisted by a committee consisting of Robert Ransom, Clyde Cook Jr., Richard Fullen and Dwight Radcliff.

The Jaycees will receive a share of the money for every ticket sold by them prior to May 30. The money from the sales will go into the Community Betterment fund.

Tickets will be good for general admission any night during the meet between June 2 and July 22, except June 20.

Tickets may be purchased from any JC Member, or at Benny's Restaurant, Anderson's Candy Shop, Kocheiser Hardware and Sonny's Barber Shop, Fissell said.

Buckeye Anglers Preparing
To Joust for New Records

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Buckeye anglers are oiling their reels and rigging their fishing rods as they prepare to crack the existing state records on various fish species.

Already in 1961 the Ohio Record Fish Committee under the auspices of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio, Inc., has announced establishment of four new records: A muskellunge weighing 30 pounds 6 ounces; a carp which tipped the scale at 32 pounds 4 ounces; a flathead catfish which shot the indicator up to an even 54 pounds and — in the new bowfishing category — a carp weighing 34 pounds.

Anyone can submit a fish legally taken for record consideration, regardless of the angler's (or archer's) age or sex. In fact two of the present records—those for white bass and bluegill—are held by women.

What to do when you think you've caught a record fish? Have it weighed and measured in the presence of at least two reliable witnesses not related to the angler. (Two affidavits from witnesses must accompany all entries.) A picture must be taken and also be submitted.

Details required include name and address of angler, type of fish, weight, length, date of catch, place of catch, witness affidavits, photograph and any other additional data the angler wishes to pass on.

Entries must be sent in within six calendar months of the date of the catch or it becomes ineligible. All entries should be mailed to Allen W. Eckert, chairman, Ohio Record Fish Committee, 5698 Traymore Drive, Dayton, 24, Ohio.

In its latest revision of Ohio Record Fish, the record fish committee lists the following:

Large-mouth bass, 9 pounds; rock bass, 1 pound 15 1/2 ounces; smallmouth bass, 7 1/2 pounds; spotted bass, 3 pounds; white bass, 3 pounds 6 ounces; bluegill, 2 pounds 10 ounces, bowfin, open; bullhead, open.

Carp, 32 pounds; blue catfish, 92 pounds; channel catfish, 22 pounds 3 ounces; flathead catfish, 54 pounds; black crappie, 2 pounds 2 ounces; white crappie, 4 pounds, (sheepshead), 18 pounds; gar, open.

Muskellunge, 30 pounds 6 ounces; paddlefish, open; white perch, open; yellow perch, 2 1/2 pounds; chain pickerel, open; northern pike, 16 pounds; sucker 9 pounds 10 1/2 ounces; brook trout 2 pounds 11 ounces; brown trout, 13 1/2 pounds; rainbow trout, 10 1/2 pounds and walleye, 15 pounds.

In the bowfishing category: carp 34 pounds and the other species, bowfin, sucker and gar are open.

Ohio Fishing Prospects Look Better

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Expectations of Ohio anglers got a boost Thursday from the Division of Wildlife which reports the fishing outlook as improved for the coming weekend.

High and muddy waters have lowered and cleared, for the most part, particularly in southern and southwestern Ohio. Here's the outlook by districts:

NORTHWESTERN — Fair catches of bass, crappies and catfish are reported from Grand Lake St. Marys. Many streams are roily but clearing, with suckers and carp being taken. Outlook is good at the ponds on Killdeer Wildlife Area, Wyandot County.

EAST CENTRAL AND SOUTH EASTERN — Good fishing is reported from these lakes: Burr Oak, Forked Run, Tappan, Dow and Hocking. Fair fishing at: Clendening and Seneca. Bass, crappies and catfish are leading the list, with walleyes at Tappan and carp at Seneca. Stream fishing is expected to be poor to fair, with best prospects at Scioto, Brush Creek, Paint Creek, Olen-tangy River, Big Walnut Creek and Deer Creek.

SOUTHWESTERN — Streams in fair shape and clearing, with good catches of bass, catfish, suckers, crappies and carp reported from many of them. Best lake fishing for the coming weekend is expected at Indian, Acton, Richwood, Clark, Cowan, Grant and Stonelick. Bass, crappies and catfish are being reported most often at present.

Radcliff Paces
Prairie Chics

Louise Radcliff led individual singles and series scores in the latest Prairie Chics league bowling at Prairie Lanes with 189 and 472 marks.

Brannon's Sohio squad continued to pace the circuit, taking high team singles with 760 and high series with 2,052.

Kay Sarchet converted the 4-10 split and Joan Woodward hit the 8-10 split.

Control Center Tense for Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In the brightly lit room, 15 men sat behind three banks of electronic consoles, listening intently into head phones, their eyes fixed on radar-like scopes and other indicators.

Now one, then another spoke in low tones. A switch was thrown, a button pressed. A panel flashed green.

Along the right side of the room, two other men faced a bank of four plotboards across which pens traced charts — the pens driven by computers 900 miles away in Washington.

The men, most of them in shirt-sleeves, moved crisply but without any show of excitement.

This was the way it looked in the Project Mercury control room — nerve center of the man-in-space flight—a few days ago when newsmen witnessed a rehearsal for today's pioneer rocket voyage by an American astronaut.

The control center is in a low gray building less than a mile from the launching pad used for this short-range, suborbital shot.

It contains in addition to the main room, special quarters for communications with recovery craft, a teletype center linked to Project Mercury's world-girdling tracking stations, a computer room and other support units.

The heart of the operation is a little bigger than a good size classroom.

The three banks of consoles are lined up on tiers facing a wall-length green-tinted map of the world. Traced on the map are the three orbital tracks to be followed on later astronaut flights, plus dots representing tracking stations, circles showing the 750-mile radius of each station's equipment and the various projected recovery areas indicated by letters from A to H.

Into this room are fed reports from the launch pad, information on weather conditions in the recovery areas, on the functioning of the capsule's instruments and the gear at tracking stations.

By means of impulses sent through sensors attached to the astronaut's body, a doctor keeps a moment-by-moment check on body temperature of the space pilot in the capsule both on the ground and in flight.

A brother astronaut serves as the voice link between the pilot and the ground team, keeping in touch by radio.

On the basis of the stream of information, the highly skilled and thoroughly drilled specialists can tell whether the launch should be delayed or called off, whether the flight is going according to plan, whether all is well with the pilot.

175 Farms in County File Forms for Feed Grain Plan

As of yesterday corn producers on 175 farms in Pickaway County had filed forms indicating their intention to participate in the 1961 feed grain program, Marvin G. Steely, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

In an effort to increase farm income and to stop the buildup of feed grain supplies, the program provides special payments to corn producers who agree to divert a portion of the acreage formerly planted to this crop to an approved conservation use.

While the program is voluntary, corn producers will not be eligible for price support on any of their 1961 feed grain crops unless they cooperate in the feed grain program.

The Chairman reported that 5,274 acres of corn on the "participating" farms have been signed up for diversion to conservation uses. The farms have 1959-60 base acreages totaling 12,183 acres for corn. The minimum and maximum diversions for a particular farm are calculated from its 1959-60 base acreage.

NEGOTIABLE certificates to be issued as payments for diversion from corn production have a total value of $106,360. These certificates are redeemable either in feed grains or in the cash equivalent. Up to half the total payment to be earned on a farm under the feed grain program may be made in advance if the farmer requests it.

Corn farmers in the county who are interested in the program but who have not yet filed an "intention-to-participate" form are urged to get in touch with the County ASC office as soon as possible.

Ohio Oil Co. Schedules 75 New Service Outlets

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Oil Co. has announced plans to build 75 new service stations this year. They will be concentrated in high-traffic metropolitan areas and on access routes to freeways and toll roads.

An Ohio Oil shareholders' meeting Thursday also was told that the company's gasoline sales in the first quarter of 1961 were nearly 10 per cent more than in the like period of 1960. This compares with an industrywide increase of about 2½ per cent for the same period, officials said.

Spring Ball Slated Tomorrow At Kingston HS

The Music Department of Kingston High School will sponsor the school's annual Spring Ball tomorrow evening in the school auditorium.

The dance will begin at 9 p. m. and is scheduled to end at 12:30 a. m.

Theme of the ball will be "Star-dust". Lavender and white decorations will dot the auditorium.

The event is a formal affair for members of the music department and their guests.

Burglar Choices Are Odd Ones

A back - porch burglar, or burglars, collected an odd assortment of ill-gotten gain in rounds through Circleville this week.

Don Archer, 888 N. Court St., reported to police that a tricycle had been stolen from the rear porch of his home. Ranzie Rigby, 962 S. Washington St., reported the theft of two beagle pups, one male and one female, from his back steps.

Officers are investigating.

Patrol Needs Dispatchers

Information Available At Local Post No. 65

The State Highway Patrol has announced that a need exists for cadet dispatchers.

Applicants for the job should be at least 21-years-old and in good physical condition. Requirements include 20-30 vision without glasses, minimum height of 5'8" and minimum weight of 165 pounds.

According to Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis of the local State Highway Patrol Post No. 65, applicants must have a high school education and be of good moral character.

Sgt. Adomaitis said successful candidates for the job will be trained as dispatchers and radio operators. He said it is possible for them to eventually be eligible for full training at the State Highway Patrol Academy to qualify as regular patrolmen.

Interested men in this area are requested to contact Sgt. Adomaitis or Cpl. S. J. Hobar at Post No. 65 on S. Court St.

Babe Ruth Activity Set For Sunday

Bidding for players and handing out of equipment for Babe Ruth League summer baseball is scheduled to start 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the Ohio National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St.

The bidding and equipment activity will involve both the Babe Ruth Majors and Minors Leagues, according to player agent Chester Iery.

Iery said bidding for players on the point system will be slated first. Equipment handouts will follow.

Babe Ruth Minors managers decided earlier to conduct bidding for players similar to the plan used by Majors managers.

All Babe Ruth managers are requested to attend and help direct the activity.

Democratic Women To Meet in Akron

President of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, Mrs. Catherine A. Turner, Akron, and her Committees are announcing the 1961 annual Spring Meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, to be held May 12 and 13 at the Sheraton Hotel, Akron.

Main speaker at the luncheon on Saturday will be Mrs. Margaret Price, vice - chairwoman of the Democratic National Committee from Washington D. C.

U.S. Astronaut's Big Day Starts Early-at 3:58 A.M.

Dr. Douglas commented "as usual, the two are in superb physical condition."

After the checkover, Douglas and his medical aides attached biological sensors to tattoo marks on Shepard's body. These sensors transmitting signals to ground monitor, indicate how the astronaut reacts to the heavy stresses and weightlessness encountered in his flight.

This done at 2:50 a. m. Shepard — still in his underwear— moved next door to the pressure suit room.

Here, suit technician Joe W. Schmitt, a slender man from O'Fallon, Tex., helped the astronaut into the special space uniform. This is a rubber garment coated with a silver spray intended to serve as an additional heat buffer and radiation shield.

Topping the outfit was a white helmet much like those worn by football players, only bigger. The helmet is fitted with transparent plastic face piece and attaches to a metal king around the neck of the suit.

His dressing finished, Shepard was strapped into a harness and then he climbed into a form-fitting couch like that inside the capsule. There he lay, looking like a man sitting in a chair that had been tipped on its back.

After the astronaut closed his visor and hoses were hooked up, Schmitt stepped to a control panel and ran the pressure in the suit to five pounds per square inch.

The suit swelled, Shepard moved his arms and flexed his fingers. Schmitt had on a head set and he and the astronaut sealed inside his helmet conversed via a microphone connection as they checked for suit leaks.

All was ready and Shepard clumped along the long gallery, down a flight of stairs to the van outside. With him he carried a portable air conditioner to cool his suit until he could be hooked into the capsule's cooling system. This unit is called the "black box," although it's actually gray.

Inside the trailer, the astronaut sank into a reclining green and beige upholstered chair with footrest. The trailer is equipped with a desk, metal sink, water jug—and a flyswatter.

Shepard departed for the launch pad.

Glenn was assigned the job of preceding Shepard up the gantry, the tall steel tower holding the rocket in place, and helping in the final checkout of the capsule.

The other five astronauts had jobs to do during the flight—in the blockhouse, the control center, and in fast fighter planes aloft where two of them were charged with "chasing" the rocket in its early flight stages to observe how it functioned.

Shepard strode quickly into the van looking straight ahead. He was followed by Virgil I. Grissom, the standby or third pilot, and the doctors.

The small crowd made no demonstration as Shepard walked by. The van left for the launch pad at 4:05 a.m.

It arrived at 4:26 a.m. under escort of two security cars.

On the pad, about 100 men were working quietly, dressed in an assortment of construction-type hats of varying colors.

The Redstone rocket stood in the gantry under bright lights and in the glare of two banks of searchlights.

The lower half of the rocket was frosted over with residue of liquid oxygen fuel being pumped into the tanks. Clouds of vapor smoked around the base of the missile.

About the time the astronaut started for the pad a "hold" was ordered at launch time minus 140 minutes to allow the accelerated procedure to catch up with the normal time schedule which called for launch around 7 a.m.

On arriving at the pad, Shepard remained in the van for 49 minutes while final preparations were made on the capsule on top of the rocket.

Astronaut Leroy G. Cooper, whose post is in the blockhouse next to the launch pad, entered the van and briefed Shepard on the condition of the rocket.

The van was parked within 10 feet of the gantry.

At 5:15 a.m., Shepard climbed down the four steps from the van, paused briefly leaned back shading his eyes and peered up at the top of the rocket where the capsule was sitting.

Accompanied by Grissom and Douglas, he walked the 25 feet to the elevator and entered. At this point a wave of applause passed across the launch pad and there was some cheering from the men who had been working toward this day.

The elevator then rose and at 5:18 a.m. Shepard was entering the capsule.

Preceding him to the capsule was backup pilot Glenn.

Starting about 3:30 a.m. Glenn helped in the final checkout of the capsule and its system, climbing in and out from time to time.

Col. Powers reported that he had found the atmosphere in the astronaut's quarters business like and routine. A NASA official said that before Shepard started out, he turned to his special nurse, Lt. Delores O'Hara: "Here I go, Dee."

The dawn was just breaking when Shepard rode to the top of the rocket. The night had been a beautiful one with a big moon and stars shining clearly.

Shepard's face showed no expression as he peered up at the rocket. There was no sign of emotion.

The launch pad and rocket stood thin and straight in the morning sunlight. The "cherry picker," an inverted L-shaped yellow steel tower affair was resting with its forward end close to the capsule.

The "cherry picker" is a device to remove Shepard from the capsule in case of trouble after the gantry is taken away.

Shepard's wait was extended when NASA ordered a "hold" for a look at the weather. Broken clouds had moved into the area as the countdown reached 15 minutes before launch.

A space agency official said at this point that the plan was for the astronaut to remain in the capsule during this delay. As of 7:55 a.m. he had been in the capsule 2 hours and 37 minutes.
